

Hi friends and fellow musicians,

Have you ever heard the term - “STARVING ARTIST?”

Well, we are about to change that!

Hi, I'm Sally O'Connor, lead singer for Zelda and the Legends, a jazz and blues band based out of Pickering, Ontario.

As a fellow musician in Canada, I don't have to tell you about the struggles it takes trying to find great paying gigs these days.

Maybe you have the luxury of a dedicated booking agent who calls around on your behalf and finds gigs for you – at a premium fee of course!

But whether you have an agent or not, for the majority of performing bands in Canada, finding gigs that will pay a decent wage for a hard night of playing good music is a time consuming task that you would rather do without.

Am I right?

It sure is for me!

Wouldn't it be great if we could leave the bookings up to someone else and just do what we love to do - play music?

The real question is, how do we get our names out there as professional bands for hire, without the luxury of a booking agent who wants 15-20% off the top of our hard earned pay, just to make a few phone calls?

As a full time marketing and Communications professional, I wanted to do something that would not only help to promote my band but would also help to promote all my friends band out there on the music scene too.

My solution?

any other music site on the internet.
